Description

Meet my best friend Barrels! She is a Hampshire market gilt whose personality is almost as big as her. I got her name from "Rio Grande Valley Livestock Show and Rodeo" with Barrels from the rodeo and her sister Buckets from the Livestock Show. When I first got her in October, she was only 58 pounds and didn't look too good. My previous year I had trouble getting my project to gain weight which led me to learn how and what to do to be successful this year. In the beginning of show season barrels did not do very well only earning 5th place which showed me that I needed to be putting more work in. I started working with my AG teacher who showed me exactly what she needed. The next show we participated in went way better than I thought it would, with Barrels earning 3rd overall breed champion. This was my second year showing and second year participating in the Sale. I hope to get enough money to purchase two hogs to show this year and to start a SAE project.
