Description

I picked my 26 chickens up on the 24th of November, and raised them for the first two weeks in a brooder box under heat lamps. For the remaining weeks I raised them in a 10x10 coop, and had to install heat lamps in the coop because of the extremely cold weather we had. I stirred up and added shavings every other day, changed out their water almost every time I went down to the coop, and always had their food topped off. We used Purina Honor Show Chow and they seemed to really like it. In addition, I got my chickens up and moving many times throughout each day.
