Description

Hello there! My name is Amilia Towell. I am 12 years old and have happily accepted this challenge of writing an essay. From the moment that I saw my little teddy bear at the auction I knew he was going to be mine. It was time for the auction and all I could think about was what his ear tag was. A week later he was mine, it was time for the hard road of progress to begin. It didn't take long to teach my lamb, Bear, how to do the things I wanted him too. He was like my little dog. He would shake, frolic like a bunny, and lick your hand when he came up to you. There were many obstacles and complications this year but, I would have to say the most challenging part of this year's livestock showmanship was bracing and the videos. Now I know what you're thinking you ask most kids this question and they say preparing the lamb, however I like to think about what I can improve on and that is appearance. When I did my market video this year I did not brace very well and I had a short halter on which made it more difficult to brace him. Why I choose these things as my livestock showmanship improvements is because I noticed that I could do better at these things so next year this letter will be different. The last thing that I will miss about fair is missing my little teddy bear. If you were his friend he would melt your heart.
