Description

Hello all! My name is Emilee Kroll, a freshly graduated senior from Venture Academy who is very excited to interest you in my project goat Nuke! Nuke is the son of one of my first market does which makes him the first buck I will be showing that I have raised from birth to market! While working with his mother and now him, I have learned so much. From socialization to market prep, this buck has taught me how to keep my cool when faced with a headstrong and determined animal. Both mother doe and buck son have a common personality trait of being suspicious of human activity, but after many hours of work, they both greet me at the gate awaiting their "Good Morning" grain and hay. Because of this, Nuke has become my biggest buck kid who I am proud to offer as my market goat this year! I can't wait to finally show him back in person and hope that whether you are watching in person with us or online that this kid makes you do a double take!
