Description

This is my market barrow that I have named Mr. Pig! He's quite a pig and I really like working with him and especially scratching his back. He just arches his back whenever I scratch him and if I don't, he comes up to me and rubs against me until I do the scratching!

Having both a barrow and gilt this year was a little challenging because the barrow grew faster and we were challenged to find a way to feed both of them without the barrow getting too big and to keep the gilt growing. I found out that a challenge can lead to interesting solutions and sometimes you are just limited with your current set up. Next year I hope to make separate pens yet that are close enough that the pigs have a buddy to be with.

I will be in the 7th grade at Cody-Kilgore this fall. I have been active in 4-H since I was a Cloverbud at age 5. Other project areas that I really enjoy are Quilts of Valor; that honor our Veterans, and welding.
