Oh my gosh it's cold! That was what I thought as I walked toward the show barn with chattering teeth on the day of this year's STAR Rabbit Show. I had never been so cold before and it hurt so bad when my rabbits scratched my icy hand as I lifted them onto the show table. The frozen sting felt a lot better when the judge said such nice things about my meat pen and the helpers handed me a blue ribbon. I couldn't feel the hurt anymore when the judge named me the Reserve Champion Jr. Showman and they handed me a shiny buckle. Raising our own breeding rabbits is a lot of work. There's always more poop to shovel and making sure every momma and poppa and baby rabbit has enough food and water is a major responsibility. Caring for these critters has taught me a lot of lessons that have helped me make good grades and made me appreciate my mom and dad who help make this project possible. Winning blue ribbons and buckles is great, but spending icy days at stock shows with my family is something I'll never forget. I really appreciate your help with my rabbit project and any support you could give me will help a lot when it comes time to pay for college! I thank God for nice people like you.
