Description

Hey there, I'm Michael Engelhardt, a 6th grader at Krueger Middle School, and I'm super excited to tell you a bit about my life!

I'm really into science and Aerospace Engineering – you know, exploring cool stuff about the universe and how things work. Whether it's uncovering the secrets of science or diving into tricky math problems, I find it all super fascinating.

Outside of classes, I love swimming. It's not just a workout; it's a challenge that I enjoy. I feel pride when I reach the end of the pool and compete not just against other people but against my own best times.

Chess is my go-to game for using my brain in a different way. Figuring out strategies and making smart moves on the chessboard keeps my mind sharp and complements my love for science.

Oh, and music! I play the baritone in the school band. Making music with my friends in the band feels like creating a beautiful symphony that touches my soul

Then, there's my farm in Floresville, Texas – my escape. I get to fish and take care of cattle, and it's where I learn important stuff about responsibility and how everything in nature is connected.

Another thing I'm really into is showing rabbits. It's not just about cute bunnies; it's about doing calculations and measurements to make the perfect rabbit. Every year, I'm trying to get better and learn more.

Life is like a big adventure for me. I'm always learning and growing, and my love for science, math, and all the cool things life has to offer is like a compass guiding me to an exciting future.
