Description

It's been an adventurous learning experience raising my lamb, Wirby. She certainly has her own character. I learned to gain her trust as she was food driven. Walking and feeding her has become a routine that I implemented consistently during the past few months. I've also learned to upkeep her coat and boots to keep her presentable. It was difficult to begin bracing with Wirby, but I was patient and dedicated. There were many minor setbacks, but slowly she became accustomed to exercising. Wirby remained her playful self, yet she also improved in her behavioral performance.
