Description

This is my second year raising lambs. Last year my lamb did not make weight and I did not get to sell an animal at the auction. I learned a lot from that experience. This year I raised two lambs and they both made weight! I worked so hard with my lambs. Unfortunately due to miscommunication from 4-H staff, they wouldn't let my lambs into the show. Lesson learned: always get it in writing because handshakes don't mean anything anymore. I was so excited and thought I could sell a lamb this year. This year I am lucky because I raised turkeys as well. I am selling one of them at the auction. This one is the biggest Tom I had. He almost was too heavy for the show. He just barely made it! Turkeys are fun but also scary sometimes. They like shiny things so you have to be careful if you are wearing jewelry or a belt. They will try to eat it! I know I am doing my best to raise a quality animal for someone's table. That makes me happy and feel like I accomplished something important. Any proceeds I have will be to help recoup the expenses from my lamb project as well as help my sister that didn't get to sell her lamb either. Thank you for your time and support!
