Description

Hello, this is Bud, he is a Suffolk cross lamb. This is my second year in the lamb project, and this year I expanded my knowledge of the species and their nutritional needs. I learned a lot about what extra nutrition is needed for pregnant animals through the producer project. I am excited to continue to learn next year. Some of the other areas I have learned about through my livestock projects are public speaking and time management. I gave a speech on the differences between market sheep and market swine with a friend this year and received grand champion. Being a freshman in high school, I learned a lot about time management balancing my livestock projects, learning a new discipline with my horse and school.
