Description

My name is Anahy Yepez and I am a member of the Lodi FFA. This is my second year in FFA and I raised a Boer goat this year, which I named Beau, for the 2020 San Joaquin Ag Fest. I acquired him from Rene Boyle this past February when he weighed around 40 pounds at 4 months old. I have spent 6-9 hours a week and have spent approximately $600 so far. Beau is a very curious goat. I noticed this from the very beginning. As soon as I would show up to feed he would always be the first goat to come sniff around at whatever I was doing. Since this is my first year raising an animal I had a lot to learn and Beau showed me all of it. He showed me that raising a goat was not something that comes with an instruction manual, every day is something different and there isn't always a perfect solution. Every time I showed up to feed I learned something new. I went through the process of learning what to feed and in what portions and how to catch and put a halter on him was an interesting experience as well. We went through our ups and downs, Beau and Me, and being a first-timer at this I needed guidance as to how to properly train a goat and luckily my advisor guided me through the process. I plan to use the proceeds from this project to fund my SAE project for next year. I would love your support in purchasing my goat. Thank You!
