Description

Meet Tony Stank! He is my first AgFest project that I have raised. Ever since we picked him up from his breeder in South Denair I knew he was going to be a challenge. One of the first things we did with him about a week after getting him was weighing him. I knew that raising a hog for show was going to be interesting but he broke down every expectation during that first weighing. He didn't want to go up on the stand so instead, he decided to run into a nearby horse pasture. With the help of my family, my ag teacher, and myself we were able to get him out, but not before the horses gave him a piece of their minds. Lucky Tony made it out with no scars but he is still scared of the horses. Let's just say he never made that mistake again! Since then he has been a great first project and I know that he will make some great pork chops to whoever decides to buy him!
