Description

Hunter is a Crossbred Barrow. I acquired him from Bob May Livestock at the end of February. This was my first year raising a large animal. Throughout raising a large animal, I learned responsibility. I was responsible for making sure that my pig gained weight and was healthy, so that he would be able to sell. I also learned that people who raise livestock have to put a good amount of time and effort into their animals to make sure that they raise them to be a good source of meat. Overall I enjoyed and learned a lot throughout raising a large animal.
