Description

As an FFA member and raising livestock I have learned great traits like time management, responsibility, and patience. This project only faced one challenge and that was teaching my lamb to follow my commands. I have work hard and diligently to teach my lamb discipline and show technique. For the past five months I would work my lamb in the arena by first walking him on the halter then and then guiding him with my hands and bracing. I would spend an hour every evening doing these techniques. Every month I would buy two bags of high performance lamb slam and feed him a pound and a half everyday for twice a day.
