Description

Hello, my name is Taylor Melgosa and this is my second year in FFA. I first started my journey my freshman year taking a Floral Design class and wanted to get more involved ever since then. My sophomore year I decided to show a market goat and learn the responsibilities that comes with it. While taking on this project there were many things that I was able to learn, such as time management, patience, trust, and respect. With the skills that I have learned this year I can apply them in many different situations, whether it be raising another animal or starting a new job.
